

ADMIRAL STANSFIELD TURNER

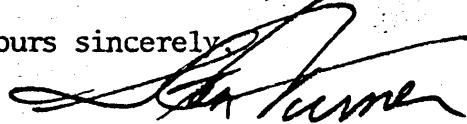

21 October 1977

Dear Professor Elliott,

We've only met once at an Oxford luncheon in Washington back in the mid-1950s. I mentioned to you at that time that a talk you gave in 1945 at the U.S. Naval Academy had inspired me to apply for a Rhodes Scholarship. A few days ago, I gave a lecture at the Naval Academy in the same series that you spoke in 32 years previously. The theme of my talk was the inspiration that you gave me. I thought you might enjoy reading the text and I'm taking the liberty of enclosing a copy.

I still am grateful to you and send my warm wishes.

Yours sincerely,

STANSFIELD TURNER
